

Friday night,
having left Old Point soon after eight A.M., and was consequently nearly ready for my coffee. Also
I have much to work for my father & do (to be writing) and for that account

Dear Miss Sewall;

Just five minutes
in which to thank you many times
for the very pretty
photo-calendar
which I found
awaiting me.
I reached here after tea last

and because of my great weariness I have not written you before

At first I thought Mr. Gough had sent it as an advertisement
of his powers, as this was the only
name besides
my own, visible.

Then I recognized your handwriting, but before that the misplaced envelope addressed Miss Brown & the card addressing people to be "The Johns Hopkins Medicine School" I myself had written over it. I had also written "Miss Brown" in the margin of the envelope.
